

Hi, my name is Maggie

Reduced Adoption

Looking for love

Medium Female Staffy Mix Dog

Maggie is a beautiful sweet girl looking for a beautiful companion family to call her own. She is a staffy x lab with good basic obedience and can also beg for a treat when she really wants to show off. Maggie has lived with newborn children up to 3 years. She can jump on you when excited, so care would have to be taken to ensure that she does not bowl any littlies over. She does, however, need to be an only dog. Maggie, like most staffies, needs to have someone home during the day as she hates being alone and good staffy fencing. She has a bolt bowl to help her not guzzle her food. Maggie is such a giving girl with oodles of love to share around. She finds the shelter stressful, so we would love to find the perfect home for her that will help her settle in for the rest of her life. She was very good to vet and can be handled all over. Maggie is part of our getting pets into homes campaign, so if she doesn't quite fit your companion family, please share her profile. If you think that your huge heart will match Maggie's, then you're the family we want to hear from. Cheers XO
