

Hi, my name is Murrumba

Looking for love

Large Male Mixed Breed Dog

Murrumba has really become the confident, outgoing puppy. He is a gentleman on lead once the initial excitement wears off, & just wants to meet everyone he passes. Super eager to please (well more like, super eager to get his treat) he picks up on tricks so very quickly. Already mastered the basics sit, drop, stay, hi five, shake. He is great at "Leave it" & waiting for food.. He is house trained and crate trained, often found snoring somewhere in the sun or having a play with the resident dogs. Murrumba is learning that he loves water, so just keep an eye on the water bowl, as his big feet tend to knock it over playing with the water! He loves meeting new people, & new dogs and will happily play with dogs of all sizes and ages. A playmate of similar rough play style would also be great. As he is growing into a large strong boy, we are looking for a large dog experienced family that will ensure his continued training and socialisation. A home that has another dog for company or where someone is home most days would be the best fit for him. puppy photos included w...
