

Hi, my name is Roxy

Looking for love

Small Female Fox Terrier Mix Dog

Roxy is a beautiful 14 year old girl who, through no fault of her own, is looking for a retirement home. She loves belly rubs, gives hi 5's and loves to go for walks and going for drives in the car. Don't let her age fool you, she's not slowing down yet! She's not fond of big dogs and gets a bit cranky at little dogs who get over excited and jump around (dog parks are not for her). But let's face it, at her age she's entitled to a rest. She is not good with cats, untested on birds and other small furrries (but probably not a good idea). Roxy is ok with older children (over 10 years) who understand that she's a senior and are able to be calm and gentle with her. Please see her medical notes for more health information. It may sound like we are asking alot, but I believe she deserves to live out her remaining years in peace, surrounded by lots of love. So if you are home more than not, have no cats and preferably no children (or minimal contact with children) & are able to assist her medical needs, please email for an application.
