

Hi, my name is Honey Badger

Badger

Super Cat Friendly!

Male Chinchilla Cat

Honey Badger might look a bit rough around the edges at the moment, but in a few months, he will be the most magnificent boy, with a golden tinged, flowing coat! Honey badger was rescued from a rural pound in a terrible state, he was horribly matted and had shredded his poor skin, due to untreated flea allergy dermatitis. He is now feeling a million bucks and will be looking it too, very soon! Honey Banger is the sweetest, friendliest boy you could ever hope to meet. He is extremely cat friendly and is looking for a home with an existing VERY friendly cat/s, as he is terribly saddened by being hissed or growled at and thinks all cats should be his instant besties! Honey badger has dog like tendencies (he made a very convincing case for getting a treat when the dogs do!) and while he's a bit on the naughty side initially (jumping on benches, stealing unsupervised food, etc!) he is very smart and accommodating and once he understands the rules/boundaries of the home, he is very well behaved. Badge love to have a chat and a chirp to himself and loves to have a play with ...
