

Hi, my name is Toby

Looking for love

Small Male Maltese x Shih Tzu Dog

Toby needs a very dog savvy owner who ideally has had experience with the Maltese breed. He needs a strong pack leader so he can then find himself established in his proper place in the pecking order of the household. Toby is very reactive to his surroundings so a quieter household would be preferable. He is very human focused and therefore would be suited as an only dog in his new home with his new owner either working from home or someone who is retired. Toby does get anxious in new situations and thunder storms so these situations would need to be taken into consideration. Toby is suited to an adult only household. Toby has never lived with cats so his new forever home will be cat free.

Toby has grade 1 luxating patellas. These do not require veterinary treatment or surgery at this time. Toby has also had a dental and five extractions.
