

Hi, my name is Minion

Project For A Cat Whisperer

Wonderful with other cats

Male Domestic Short Hair Cat

Minion came into foster care with me at around 8-10 weeks of age along with six siblings (his real name is 'Mignon' because he was the smallest, but has been 'Minion' since very early on). He was the most scared/shy of all of them right from the start. They were kittens someone had found in their backyard and had been feeding for a bit, but basically the whole litter was little bit wild/shy by the time they came to me. They have all been adopted out one at a time over the last 2 and half years with just scaredy Minion remaining with us. My feedback from all the adopters is that they have all done really well in their new homes, even though they start very shy. They seem to respond really well to intensive one on one attention (which as a busy foster household we have not been able to provide) and LOTS of patience and love. Minion LOVES other cats, and would especially like a confident big brother to show him the ropes and lavish him with grooming, cuddling and rumbles. Minion has never been without other cats around and really loves other cats. He would be so happy to hav...
