

Hi, my name is Pumba ~ Ready To Warm You Up In Winter!

Arctics at their best

Large Male Alaskan Malamute x Siberian Husky Dog

Pumba is a sweet and affectionate boy that wants nothing more than to please you. He is very handler focused and treat oriented so can easily be further trained by the right person that has the time and interest in doing it. He is very affectionate and will be a great companion to a family that wants to get him involved with most of their activities. As an Arctic, Pumba needs to be seen as a working dog, not a cute fluffy couch potato - although he is extremely cute! Do not let his age fool you, he is still a very active dog that will put youngsters to shame as full of stamina. Pumba will do better as a single dog but a family with a large female Arctic would be considered upon a favourable meet and greet. Because of his size and clumsiness, we would prefer no small children in his new family. As an Arctic, Pumba will never need to be clipped at the groomers although will definitely benefit from the occasional bath ;) Pumba will do well if not alone for extended periods of time coupled with a good exercise routine. If you are ready to meet this gorgeous boy, please text Merna...
