

Hi, my name is Princess

Looking for love

Female Flemish Giant Rabbit

Princess was at the pound, when she was accidentally transferred to the vet instead of another rabbit. By the time everyone realised she was the wrong bun, she'd given birth to three babies, and the vets didn't have the heart to send this new family back to the pound. They reached out to us instead, and thanks to the help of a very amazing foster carer, these guys found last minute safety. Princess has been an awesome bun. She really didn't want to have her family at the pound, so when her bubs did come out, they were rather overbaked! She's done a great job feeding them, and now it's time for her to find a forever family, that can provide her with stability and unlimited love. Because let's face it, she deserves this, and so much more. Princess is a lovely girl who is very friendly, and doesn't like to be confined. Playpens? Hah, she laughs at them, as she takes a massive leap over. She'd much rather be snuggling up to you. Princess is a meat breed of bunny, so has used up most of her lives to be in the position she is in. As such, she is very big, and very heavy. Definit...
