

Hi, my name is Mauri

Looking for love

Large Male Greyhound Dog

Mauri is one of those special black greyhounds with a face like an angel. His perpetually puppy-like appearance endears him to everyone he meets and makes him all too easily forgiven for any cheeky behaviour he might show! Mauri has settled into his new life as a pet exceptionally well. He thinks he has won the lottery by being able to live in a warm house with a soft bed and yummy food, not to mention he can have cuddles anytime of the day. Despite his size, Mauri has little spatial awareness. He's super clumsy and will try to squeeze into the smallest of spaces, despite his obvious size. A full couch with seemingly no extra room is the perfect challenge. He will try to smoosh himself in between the humans, legs sprawling all over the place until he is wedged comfortably in prime position for pats and spooning. He loves fiercely and is very loyal to his humans. Mauri loves people of all ages and is gentle with everyone he meets. He is becoming more interactive with other dogs over time, but generally doesn't seem to phased by them. He would do well as an only dog as long...
