

Hi, my name is Jalapeno

Looking for love

Male Bird

Hi there my name is Jalapeno! I got my name from being a little spicy with my handlers, I can be quite timid so it is important for my new owners to have had experiences with parrots before. I can get quite stressed in smaller cages so it is also important for my new owners to have a flight aviary set up for me! The bigger the aviary the better I love to spread my wings and fly around. If you think you have the right skills and patience to make friends with a bird like me, please come into the shelter today and enquire about me! Jalapeno xx
