

Hi, my name is Frankie

Looking for love

Medium Male Kelpie Dog

Frankie is on the look out for a new home, this fella can be a little shy when first meeting new people but soon warms up to you. He has been good around his fur siblings and loves to play with his ball or moo cow toy. Frankie doesn't mind being inside and is house trained, he is also happy to chill outside when needed. He was living with teenagers prior to coming to us and was said to be no problem. He has also met a toddler and while cautious of the loud child was polite (always supervised around young children tho) He can become stressed during thunder storms and fire works so will need a place he knows he is safe in other wise he will cry and howl if he doesn't. Frankie will need further training to help build a strong bond with his new owners. He has the basics and will shake your hand, he needs a firm but guiding hand as if he knows he can get away with it he will. Suggested NO cats as he will chase them given half a chance, while he is getting better with cats he needs full supervision at all times with them. Frankie loves going for drives in the car and going on hikes....
