

Hi, my name is Megan

Looking for love

Female Domestic Short Hair Mix Cat

Megan is a confident little girl who hasn't had the best start to life. She was brought to the RSPCA by an inspector as she had cat flu and was not getting the treatment she needed. She looked terrible, but her happy demeanor and love for people hadn't faded. Megan was given a course of anti-biotics and was better in no time. She has now been desexed, vaccinated, microchipped, wormed and treated for fleas and is ready to start a new life. Megan does not like other cats. We have tried her with several different cats and kittens and she is a bit of a bully! She wants all the love for herself. As with most cats and kittens that get cat flu, it can re-occur in times of stress. It is important to keep these cats warm in winter and safe indoors where they aren't exposed to stressors or other cats carrying flu.
