

Hi, my name is Poppy

Precious Poppy!

Female Domestic Short Hair Cat

“Hi, my name is Poppy, but I prefer “Miss Poppy”, as I am quite the precious girl. I was found fending for myself as a young kitten. I was so unwell when the Mad Catters crew found me that I could barely breathe and needed lots of TLC to nurse me back to health. I am all better now, but the doc told me I have this “chronic snuffle”, which you can hear when I get a little stressed. I lived alongside a lot of other cats and am quite the cat socialite. I’m currently staying with Bow Tie in foster care (I’ve been told he could be my dad, and we are strikingly similar!), he is teaching me to come out of my shell and that humans aren’t so bad. I love to have a little safe space, and will come out for treats, and am also getting used to pats and strokes from human hands. I’ve seen the big resident dog through the window, and he doesn’t scare me. I may not mind dogs with the right introduction, though I haven’t met any face to face yet! If you have a quite little abode for me to stay, I would love to find a forever home. A quiet, stress free retreat would be great, to help stop my snuf...
