

Hi, my name is Cookie

Looking for love

Female Rabbit

Hi there! My name is Cookie and its fantastic to meet you! I am sweet and social gal who is looking for my very own family to call my own! So let me tell you a little bit about how you can make my new house extra homey! Firstly, we will need a large and secure hutch to live in, but I will also need lots of space to stretch our legs and exercise. This will help keep my physically and mentally stimulated. I'm best suited to an only rabbit household as I mush prefer human companionship over that of other rabbits! I will need lots of yummy food to keep me happy and healthy! This is usually an assortment of rabbit pellets, loads of leafy greens and veggies oh and don't forget some hay to snack on! I would also love to come inside when it is really hot or really cold and raining! But mostly I am just looking for a family that can include me in their everyday lives! I am already desexed but you will just have to keep up with my vaccinations and flea treatments once I am adopted to keep me at my healthiest.
