

Hi, my name is Clover

Looking for love

Female Rabbit

Hi, my name is Clover I arrived into care when I was only four weeks old and have been spending time in a foster home growing bigger and getting braver. I do like the company of people and I REALLY love my food, so if you combine the two I am a pretty happy little hippity hopper. My little sister Dandelion isn't as brave as me so we have asked our carers if we can stick together forever and find a special home for two. We are looking for a home with a nice large, safe enclosure to keep us protected from the weather and other dangers if we are staying outside, but it would be really nice to find a home where we can learn to be inside buns as well. A good bunny friendly diet, including yummy hay and fresh vegetables will help us continue to grow into a healthy adult bunny. In our foster home we saw small rabbit friendly dogs and cats all the time so we are not worried when seeing them. Luckily the cats weren't allowed to get too close! I did learn recently that I am quite a good high-jumper, so any area intended to contain me will need a roof. I am already desexed b...
