Female Domestic Short Hair Cat

I'm Sylvester. Yes, you read it right - a female named Sylvester. What of it? I don't subscribe to gender stereotypes. I have a name and I wear it proudly ☹️ I am a total badass. I'm so gangsta I birthed my babies while being transported to my foster home. I wanted those suckers out! Don't get me wrong, I was a good mum but I was happy when they left. I prefer being an only cat. Not gonna lie, I was pretty shy back in the day. But then I learned that humans could be manipulated into giving me my favourite treats (Chicken Nibbles from Prime Pantry) and letting me sleep in all the comfy spots if I just chilled and let them be my friend. I even humoured the humans while spending time in a PetStock store, hoping to manipulate someone into taking me home. But humans can be pretty stupid and don't know a good thing, even when it's rubbing against their leg ☹️ So now here I am, back in foster care, eating all the treats and waiting for someone who can appreciate a girl with character rather than just a cute face. I mean, I know I'm not pretty, but man do I rock what I got ☹️ So i...
